Performance and market commentary

The Squirrel Monthly Income Fund returned 0.53%¹ in October. The Fund offers investors competitive stable monthly income by providing flexible, competitive funding solutions for NZ's housing market.

The Fund's portfolio is diversified across 360 loans, including 269 construction loans and 91 home loans. Its exposure is managed via the Squirrel Wholesale Construction Loan Fund (76.09%) and the Squirrel Wholesale Home Loan Fund (23.83%) held in cash. The portfolio's Loan-to-Value Ratio (LVR) was 58.91%.

At month-end, the Fund was invested ($1,652,764 or 3.95%) in three over-term home loans and one is in arrears. One loan ($321,593 of fractional investment or 1.22%) has been repaid. Two loans ($1,142,770 or 2.73%) are expected to be repaid during December, and Squirrel is engaging with the borrower to bring the loan in arrears up to date.

The Fund is invested in 16 construction loans (totalling $4,543,475 or 3.29%) that are over-term and/or in arrears. Since month-end, four loans ($1,345,107 of fractional investment or 0.97%) have been repaid. Another five loans ($820,533 of fractional investment or 0.59%) are expected to be repaid during December, with the remaining seven loans ($2,377,834 invested or 1.72%) to be repaid through property sales.

House prices remained broadly flat in recent months, though regional trends continue to vary. Sales activity has picked up, suggesting demand is slowly returning after a softer middle of the year. At the same time, increased listings – including more new builds – are keeping the market well supplied and firmly in buyers' territory.

The Reserve Bank's 0.25% cut in November brought the OCR down to 2.25%, and we expect it to remain on hold through 2026. More generally, signs of economic improvement are becoming more widespread, with increased business confidence and house-price-to-income ratio stabilising to around pre-COVID levels.

While conditions are improving, progress will require continued income growth and a steady flow of new housing. For buyers, the current environment offers choice and reduced urgency. For developers, this stage of the cycle brings both longer sales periods and emerging opportunities as confidence gradually rebuilds.
